You Exist, Now What?

In a world often characterized by uncertainty and existential dread, this worship series fearlessly faces the complexities of existence, offering a sanctuary for those seeking meaning, connection, and purpose. "Being 101" delves into the heart of what it means to truly be alive, addressing vital aspects of our lives with a thoughtful and compassionate approach.

This worship series is a holistic guide for those seeking spiritual growth within the realities of everyday life. "Being 101: You Exist, Now What?" is an invitation to embrace the journey of existence with courage, vulnerability, and a profound awareness of the divine presence that accompanies us every step of the way.

We'll explore the image of doors. There are so many opportunities open to us, seemingly limitless. But certain doors are locked to us. There are doors we don't want to walk through, and there are doors of celebration and loss that each one of us will one day walk through.

Join us this fall as we explore the art of being human together and discover the transformative power of living with purpose and love.
